Summer Conservation Workshop

June and July 2024

About the workshop

Do not miss the exceptional opportunity to broaden your knowledge and creative skills through conservation and restoration. Join us for an unforgettable journey into the world of art conservation and Italian culture!

The Conservation Workshop is offered twice over summer, in June and July.

This 4-week program is an exceptional opportunity for individuals of diverse backgrounds who wish to deepen their cultural experience and creative abilities.

At the LdM restoration lab in Florence, participants acquire the basics in a professional studio setting. They then transfer to an off-site location where they apply conservation and restoration techniques to authentic historic works of art, including original easel paintings, frescoes, and wooden artifacts from previous centuries. These off-site locations are typically antique towns in Tuscany, Umbria, and even on the Capraia Island.

While studying at the LdM restoration lab and engaging in hands-on work in beautiful locations, participants will gain valuable insights into history, art, and culture.

The workshop does not require previous knowledge in the field of conservation and is open to all abilities. The workshop is offered in English

Students who are interested in earning US credits can require more information by writing to info@ldminstitute.com
